

Ian Furlong
Regional Manager, Central Europe
Intel® Solution Services
Software and Solutions Group

Ian Furlong is Intel Solution Services' Regional Manager in Central Europe and is responsible for business strategy and service delivery for that division. Intel Solution Services is Intel's professional services organization chartered with accelerating end-customer deployments of solutions based on Intel Architecture. Previously Ian was responsible for Intel Solution Services Program Office in EMEA.

With more than 20 years of industry experience, Ian joined Intel from Amdahl Corporation, where he was Manager of the Enterprise Integration Consulting Practice for EMEA, providing practice management of solution services related to mainframe integration as well as consulting and practice development services. He was also a Product Marketing Manager for mainframe systems in Central Europe and a Marketing Systems Engineer providing pre-sales technical support.

Ian holds a BSc degree in Physics from the University of Bristol, UK.